FIFTEEN CENTS

Public Hearing Planned By 'Lakes' Group

The Illinois Chain O'Lakes-Fox River Commission has tentatively set a date for a public hearing.

The group plans to listen to the comments of interested citizens on Friday, Apr. 11 at 7 p.m. in Fox Lake.

The commission is composed of legislators and laymen and has been created by Illinois law to combat flooding and pollution. William E. Brook of Antioch is chairman of the group.

A meeting of the commission was held last Friday at Fox Lake and the group voted to have legislation drafted and introduced in the General Assembly to permit the establishment of a new taxing authority - providing people in the area want it.

The authority could be financed by user fees or revenue bonds. Rep. Donald Deuster said it would be desirable if such an authority were established by a referendum of the people.

The taxing authority might include Antioch, Grant and Lake Villa townships in Lake County, and McHenry and Richmond townships in McHenry county. Nunda and Algonquin townships in McHenry also could be included.

State Rep. John Matijevich cited the necessity of a permanent Chain O'Lakes-Fox River authority in order to get available state and federal funds for cleaning up area lakes and rivers.

"There has to be some controlling agency," he said. "Without it, nothing will happen. And the cost of pure water and fighting pollution should be shared by the users of the water."

He suggested that motor vehicle funds might be a principle source of taxes.

Deuster suggested that each of the five or six townships concerned might elect a representative for three or four years.

The commission has decided to approve the dredging of Nippersink Lake and the development of a containment area adjacent to and north of Rt. 12 at Fox Lake. The containment area eventually could be used as a recreation and law enforcement center.

You Know the Brass Ball, But How About Its History?

Long-time residents of Antioch and Salem townships are very familiar with the gilded brass ball that hangs from cables suspended about the intersection of highways 50, 83 and 75 in Kenosha county.

But how many know the history of that locally-famous spot known as Brass Ball Corners? Some lifelong residents have admitted that they can't explain it to visitors who ask about it.

Joe and Irene Chaban, owners of the Brass Ball Corners restaurant, have done their best to reconstruct the history of their historic site.

Since 1842 it has been known as the place "where the people from Wisconsin and Illinois meet."

FOR MORE than 125 years, before highways were numbered, Brass Ball Corners became a landmark. If you traveled in the area, you were always given directions to your destination from that intersection.

The Brass Ball suspended over the intersection today is a symbol of the original Ball, which was made of wood and gilded gold. People mistook the gold gilding for brass, and called it a brass ball. This is how the intersection received the name back in 1842.

It is told that the original wooden ball was a buoy for a floating English mine. It floated across the vast Atlantic ocean and was washed ashore on the coast of Florida where it was picked up and brought to its present location by the people who homesteaded the area. An Inn was established here in 1842 and became famous as an overnight stop for weary travelers from the west carrying furs, corn and other products. Many tales have been told of the Indians who lived in the area and of Indian raids which took place around the Inn. The original Inn was moved from the corner north about a quarter of a mile where it was used to store farm machinery. It can still be seen today north of the intersection on Highway 75.

AS THE YEARS passed Brass Ball Corners became a small community with its own country school house, which still stands today one block west of the intersection on highway 50. The building kitty-corner from the Brass Ball used to house the old post office of the area. The large building across the street to the north belonged to the people who were

Antioch Pays Tribute To VIP Couple of Year

More than 400 persons paid tribute to Elmer and Gert Zimmerman at the 7th Annual VIP Dinner-Dance at St. Peter's Social Center last Saturday. It was an evening to remember for all who attended.

After being greeted at the door by Co-Chairmen Wally and Betty Podlin, the evening began with a cocktail hour presided over by Ben Wagner and his crew at the bar, and his best girl, Babe, playing the organ for the listening pleasure of the guests.

A buffet dinner, prepared by Kay Wells with the assistance of Dan Dugenski, Gene Zannini and Ida Curry, was served.

The highlight of the evening was the program honoring the VIPs, with Kevin Mulhern as emcee.

When introduced by Rev. Bob Melcher, Kevin came rushing to the speaker's table in his striped shirt, with basketball in hand, blowing his whistle. He quipped, "What's going on here? I thought I was invited to referee a basketball game!"

That was only the beginning of a humorous and fast-paced program.

Mayor Bob Wilton presented a plaque from the village of Antioch. A plaque from St. Peter's was presented by Mr. Mulhern, along with a gold watch and other gifts for each of the VIPs.

Mr. and Mrs. Zimmerman's daughter, Virginia Richards, and son, Jim Zimmerman, were called upon to pay tribute to their Mom and Dad.

Rev. Francis Johnson, pastor of St. Peter's, and Rev. Robert Melcher, his assistant, honored the VIPs thanking them for their many years of dedicated service to St. Peter's and the Antioch community.

The Town Crier

BOY, MONDAY was one of those days:

I called Dial-a-Prayer and they hung up on me.

HOW GOOD was Antioch High School's basketball team this year?

The Associated Press ranked Rockford Auburn 13th in the State of Illinois. Antioch was every bit as good as Rockford Auburn. The Sequoits proved that when they beat Auburn 53-52 in a Christmas tournament and lost to them 47-45 in the sectionals, only because of two questionable decisions by officials in the final minute.

The only reason Antioch wasn't ranked is because we're a small town. But, obviously, the Sequoits were among the 13 best teams in the state.

HAD A REALLY delicious pizza the other night at Weasel's Italian Village on Rt. 173.

If you haven't been there lately, you ought to drop in. Joe Bedame and his wife, Carol, have created a very pleasant atmosphere ... cozy, with checkered tablecloths, quiet music ... highly recommended.

BARB CORBIN made some interesting observations this week. Thanks to her, we are able to pass along these appropriate comments:

"If at first you don't succeed, try looking in the wastebasket for the directions."

"One reassuring thing about modern art is that things can't possibly be as bad as they are painted."

"To make a long story short, there's nothing like the boss walking in." And ...

"An adult is a man who has stopped growing at both ends, but not in the middle."

Right on, Barb.

I wonder how many of you knew Tom McCann, the former Great Lakes athletic director, who died Sunday at the age of 75.

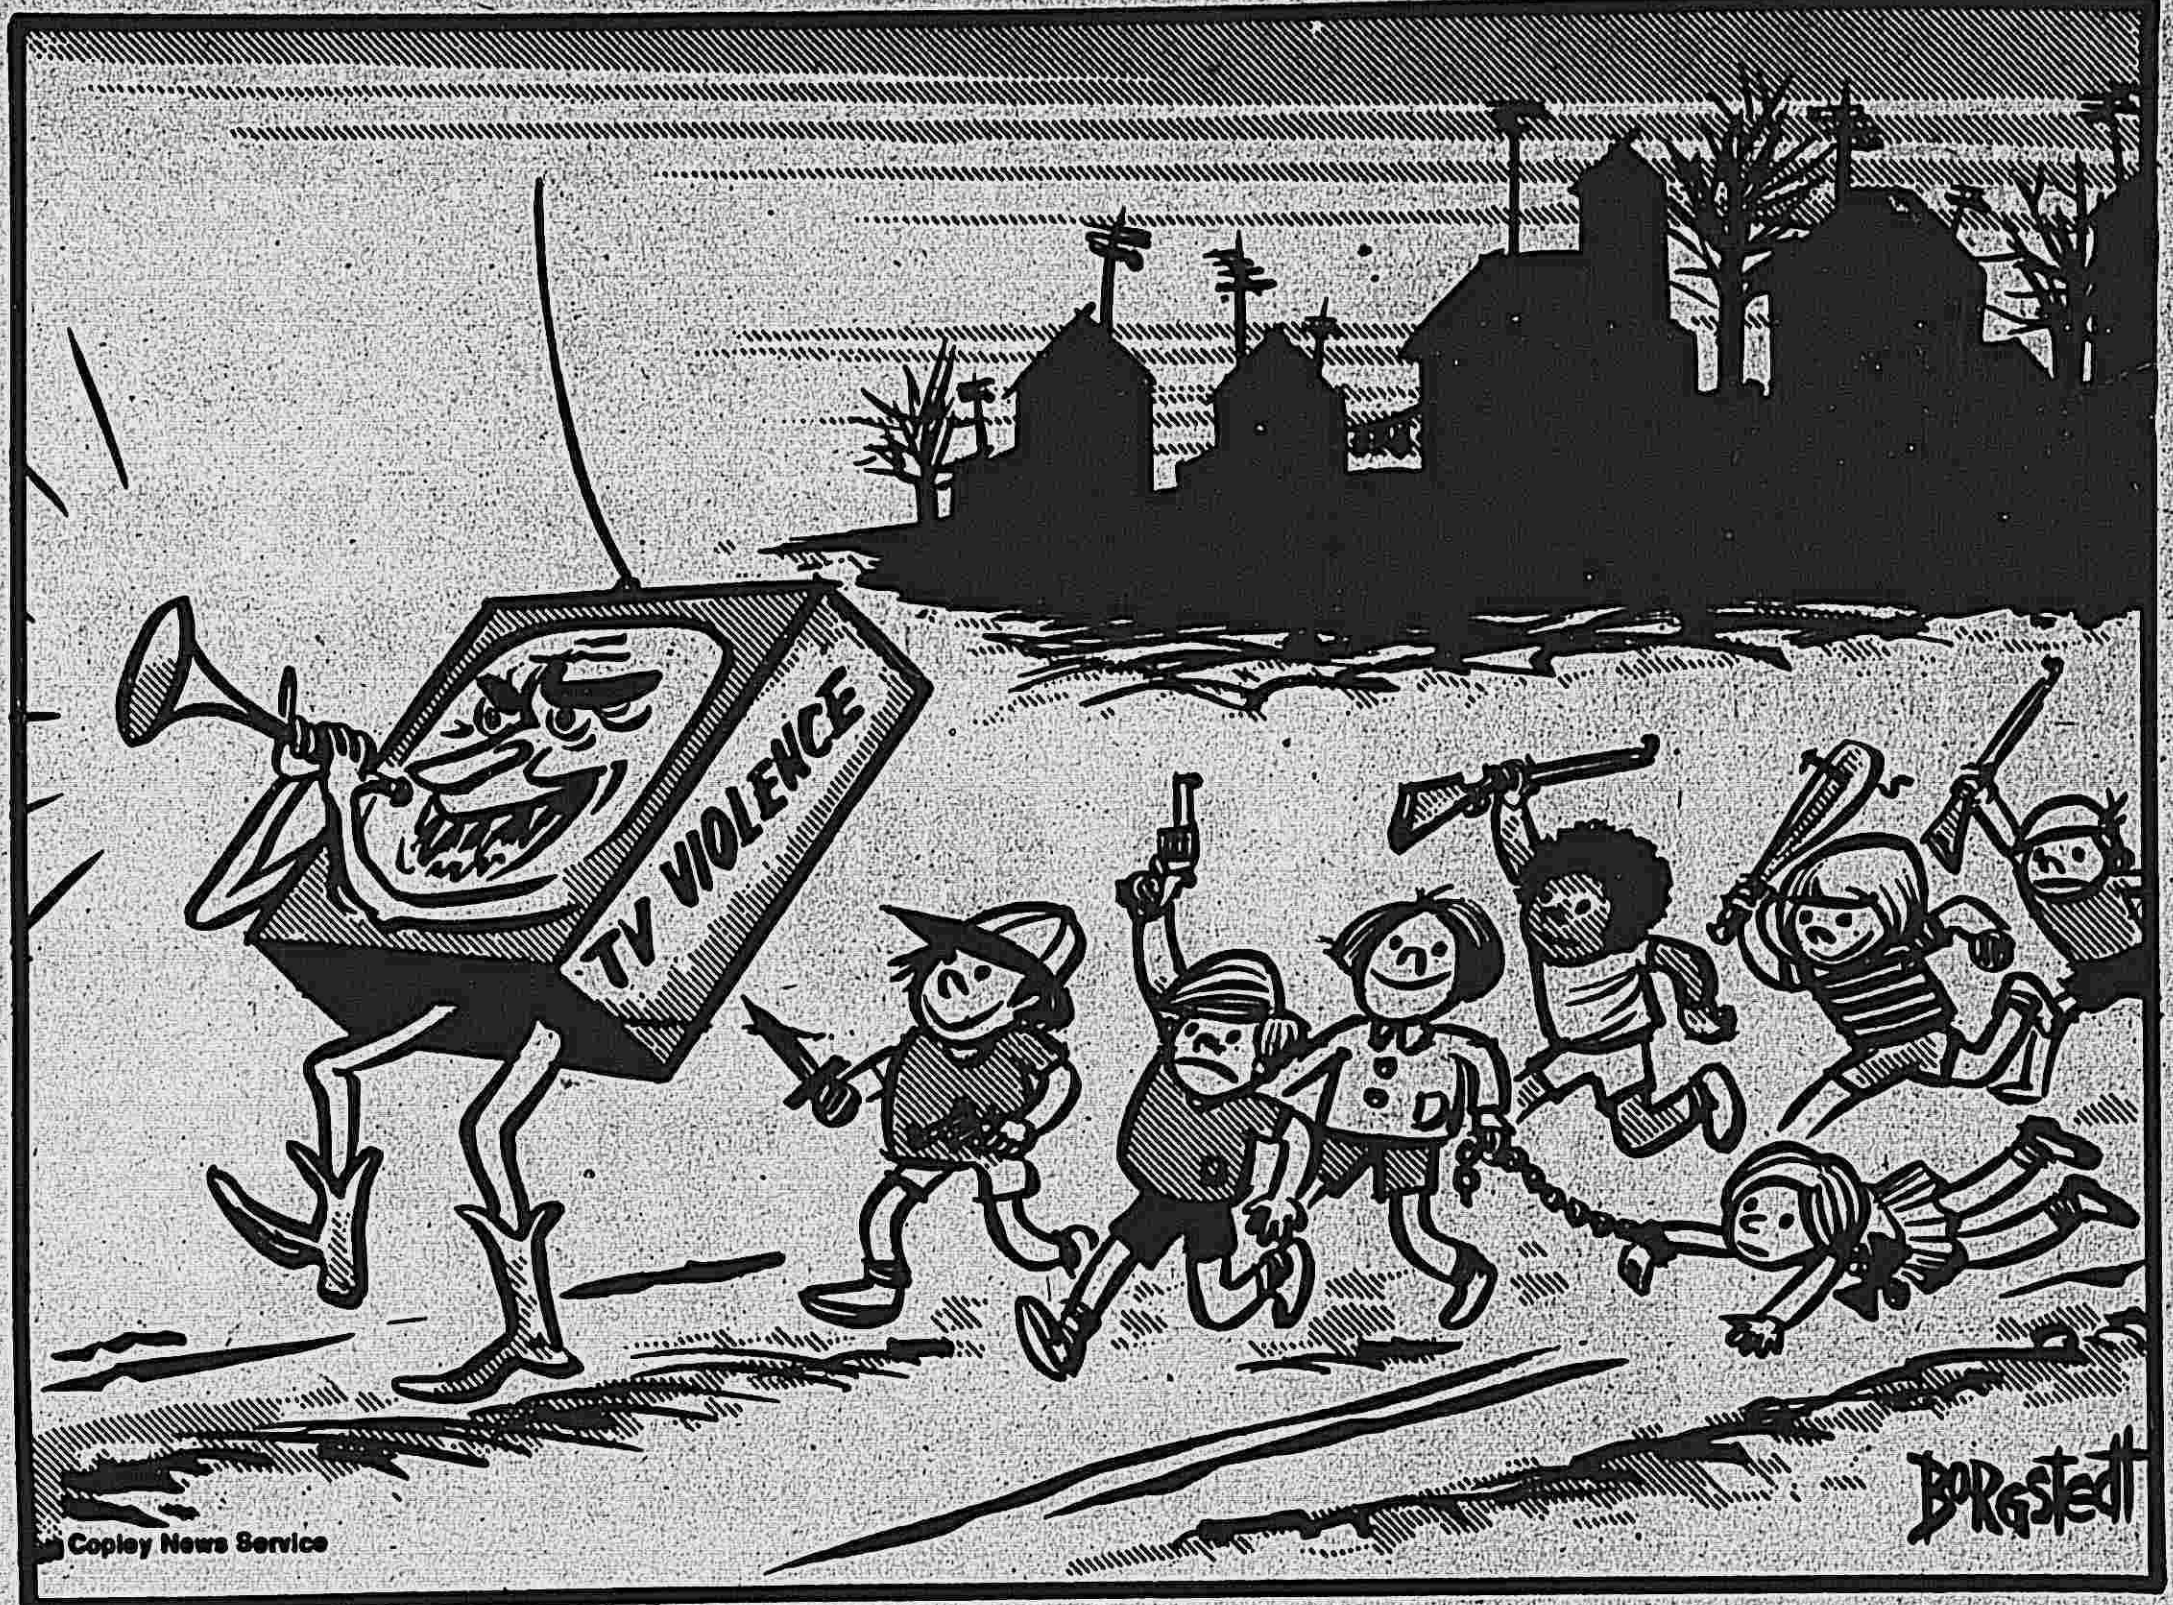

He was a sports star at Waukegan High School and at the University of Illinois. Later he was a college football coach and for many years a Navy Commander and the head of sports at Great Lakes.

I imagine many people in Antioch crossed paths with Tom. He was a gentleman and a gentle man. Tom, I hope you're up there reading this. I remember you well.

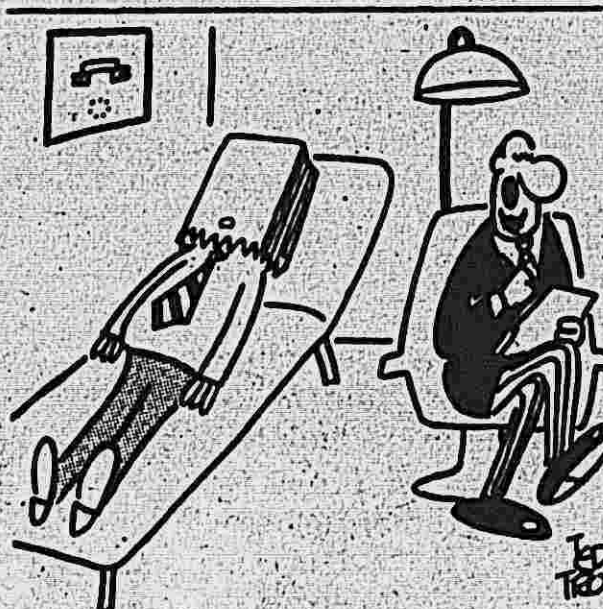

RAN ACROSS one of my favorite quotes the other day. It's from Scott's 'Lochinvar' and we should all live by it:

"Oh, what a tangled web we weave, when first we practice to deceive."

And who was it who said: "Anyone can be born a gentleman, but it's an achievement to die one." Hear ye!

Pied Piper, 1975

"You are basically a shy, introverted person."

JAPANESE SURRENDER

descendants of the original settlers. It was sold to its present owners by that family.

Route 50 from Kenosha to Lake Geneva is the original stage coach route. From Kenosha to Brass Ball Corners, highway 50 followed a straight line until it reached the Fox River and the surrounding hill country. From just before the river highway 50 becomes a winding road snaking its way over the land following the same route the people did back in those early days.

Conjure a mental picture of a team of horses pulling a wagon load of pelts or corn down the narrow dusty road. A weary driver would look forward to a drink, food, rest and a good place to bed his horses. The sign of the Brass Ball was always a welcome sight.

At the Brass Ball, Joe and Irene Chaban continue to serve the public just as Irene's parents and family did. Mrs. Eve Adams, Irene's mother, operated the popular restaurant and bar for over 25 years. It was here that Joe and Irene met after World War II.

Editorial

Too Many Chiefs

Some new statistics have emerged which are truly frightening, illustrating, as they do, a possible threat to the physical fitness of the men and women in the Armed Forces of the United States.

It appears they might all wind up with "tennis elbow" from saluting each other. This danger lies in the fact that there are seven times as many generals or admirals today per soldier as there were 30 years ago.

Since generals and admirals normally do not carry out their own orders or work intimately with enlisted men, there must also be a considerable increase in the numbers of lower grade officers like ensigns and captains and majors.

With all the saluting that must go on, everyone in the service, from flag rank down, could very easily wind up with sore elbows or bursitis. Come the next national emergency, there might be one around in good enough shape to pick up a rifle or reach out to push a button.

From a layman's point of view, it looks like the U.S. Armed Forces might be better off with fewer chiefs and more Indians.

Haven for Deadbeats

If this country ever expects to get out of the financial and inflationary woods, one thing is certain. Someone will have to stick his neck out and place the balance sheet ahead of visions of social Utopia when it comes to making economic decisions.

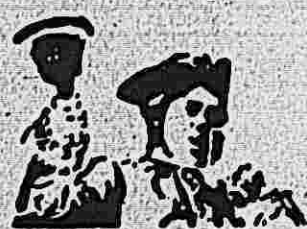

Illustrating the wrong-way approach that plagues us is a story coming out of the State of Michigan reported in the News-Palladium of Benton Harbor. It seems that State Public Service Commission has cooked up some new rules that it says utility companies will have to follow in billing their customers. The new procedures are called "Consumer Standards and Billing Practices" and are described by one of the commissioners authoring them as a consumer triumph.

The newspaper says they will make the State of Michigan "safe for deadbeats" and calls them "...a disaster for people who pay their bills on time. They'll be subsidizing the chronic chiselers." The new regulations will give a customer 21 days to pay his bill, extend service to a customer until he proves to be a bad credit risk and, as a final straw, before service can be cut off assure each customer the right to demand a hearing where the utility will have to prove it has not in some way violated the non-bill paying customer's constitutional rights.

In the words of the newspaper, "Besides making Michigan safe for bad credit risks, this is guaranteed to make the state more expensive for utility users who regularly pay their bills on time....It's just another 'soak the middle class' idea. If government really wants to make electricity cheaper for everyone, let it balance its budgets so interest rates will come down. New utility plants can then be built economically."

As the Benton Harbor editor observes, the Michigan Public Service Commission apparently is determined to make its own private social philosophy part of the electric rate structure.

Award-Winning Photos Displayed at Library

Award-winning photographs by Joe Rush of BJ Rush Studio, Antioch, are on display at the Antioch Township Library.

On Feb. 23, four prints were submitted to the Wisconsin Professional Photographers convention. A panel of 10 judges scored some 800 prints by national standards. In order for the prints to hang at that convention they had to receive a score of above-standard quality. Three of the four prints submitted by BJ Rush Studio hung during the 4-day convention in Milwaukee.

On Mar. 15, the Illinois Professional Photographers

Assn. convention began in Peoria. Of the four prints that were submitted to this convention, all were scored high enough to hang. More than 1,000 prints were submitted to this convention for competition.

"This was the first time the BJ Rush Studio entered into state competition and we feel quite proud that our work compared so favorably with professional standards," Joe Rush said.

Another honor was bestowed on the BJ Rush Studio this week. It qualified in General Commercial Photography among a select group of 1,300 studios in the United States that are qualified. The letter received reads in part:

"After careful examination of examples which accompanied your application, qualification has been awarded to your studio by the Board of Review. As you know, Qualification is attained only by members of the PP of A who meet the rigid requirements established by the Qualification Committee of the Commercial Division and of the Board of Directors.

"We are most happy to welcome you to the select group of photographers who, by aiding the industry of photography, have achieved excellence of performance in the field of photography."

member of the Professional Photographers of America, Professional Photographers Association of Northern Illinois, Associated Professional Photographers of Illinois and Wisconsin Professional Photographers Association.

Homestead Exemption Deadline Is Near

Senior citizens of Antioch township have until next Monday, Mar. 31, to sign up for their 1975 Homestead Exemptions.

The township office explained that persons must have had their 65th birthday before Jan. 1, 1975, to be eligible for the $1,500 reduction from the equalized value of their property.

"This reduction is figures on the tax bill they will pay next year," said Marilyn Slater of the township office. "The individual who has never filled out an exemption form must bring to the township office his deed to the property, an old tax bill receipt, and identification of his or her age."

Persons filing the exemptions for the second time need only to bring the yellow copy given to them last year.

"Were it left to me to decide whether we should have government without newspapers or newspapers without government, I should not hesitate for a moment to prefer the latter. But I should mean that every man should receive those papers and be capable of reading them."

PM&L Drama Opens Next Week

"John Brown's Body," the dramatic and musical adaptation of Stephen Vincent Benet's epic poem, will open Saturday night, Apr. 5, at the PM&L Theatre, 877 Main St. in Antioch.

Four additional performances are scheduled for Fridays and Saturdays, Apr. 11, 12, 18 and 19. Curtain time is 8:30 p.m. for all five performances.

In a way, "John Brown's Body" will give Antioch a head start in preparing for the 200th anniversary of our national independence. On March 13, 1939, a German ultimatum to Prague reportedly demanded division of the nation into three "independent" states.

As a dramatic production, "John Brown's Body" is unusual in format. Benet's poem has been combined with music written by Fenno Heath. A blend of original composition, American folk music and Civil War songs, the Heath score combines with the classic poem to form a type of choral reading.

Probably the best-known of the songs in the production are "Blow the Man Down" and "John Brown's Body." These, together with the rest of the score, are performed by a 16-member chorus under the able direction of Mary Chris LaKome.

Other PM&L veterans lend their hands and talents to the show. Don Beveroth directs the enterprise. The principal roles are undertaken by Valerie Hunley and Lou Jones, and Don MacKenzie, a newcomer to the Antioch stage.

Oil Stock Owned By Many Americans

Who owns Big Oil? Millions of Americans do, according to a survey by the American Petroleum Institute.

The study found that more than 14 million Americans are direct or indirect shareowners of the six largest U.S. oil companies—Exxon, Gulf, Mobil, Standard of California, Standard of Indiana, and Texaco. This figure was arrived at after the elimination of all duplication.

Together, these individuals own nine-tenths of the common stock of the companies. They represent more than 6.5 per cent of the nation's total population.

Direct shareowners total about 2,300,000. More than 11,750,000 persons were counted as indirect shareowners because of their purchase of mutual funds and insurance stocks, through participation in pension and profit-sharing plans or retirement programs for state employees and teachers, through life insurance annuities or through receipt of trust funds involving investment in oil companies.

API President Frank N. Icard said millions more individuals would be involved if data were available for the hundreds of oil companies in this country.

He said the Institute sponsored the study to correct the notion that the oil companies are owned by a handful of millionaires.

Although there may be a few millionaires in the group, the survey shows that the typical oil-company shareowner is a person with a good education who has worked hard, saved some money and invested part of it in common stocks.

Easter Egg Hunt Planned Saturday

The Northern Illinois Conservation Club will sponsor its annual Easter Egg hunt at 11 a.m. Saturday at Club headquarters, just off Rt. 173 about 2 miles west of Rt. 59.

The annual event has attracted more than 400 youngsters in previous years and this year children 10 years and under will be eligible to hunt for eggs and receive prizes. Special prize eggs will be hidden in the grounds and door prizes will also be awarded.

Coffee and rolls will be available during the hunt and throughout the afternoon, and a bake sale will be offered.

The club's trap range will be open for use by members and their guests for the remainder of the afternoon. Instructions will be offered at no cost to those interested.

The Northern Illinois Conservation Club is a non-profit organization dedicated to the interest of conservation in Illinois and the United States. Its efforts are devoted to a better understanding of the game laws and management of wildlife. It works to instill in individuals a love for the outdoors, respect for law enforcement, and it sponsors legislation to aid in the development of conditions which tend to increase and save for future generations an abundant fish and wildlife population.

Club officials also say they respect the rights of property owners in the promotion of good fellowship among all sportsmen.

Persons interested in these aims and endeavors are invited to join the club and take an active part.

Further information can be received from the club secretary, Mrs. Mary Rockow, 1207 Main St., Antioch, phone 395-1210.

4 Candidates For St. Peter's School Board

Four candidates are seeking two seats on the St. Peter's Board of Education.

Voting for the three-year terms will take place in the lower level of the church after the Saturday evening and Sunday morning Masses on Apr. 19 and Apr. 20.

The four candidates are Dr. James Becker, Eileen Zannini, Peter Zeien and Charles Schwenn.

Adult parishioners and parents of St. Peter's school children are eligible to vote. Parish rolls will determine eligibility.

Skinner Wants People To Elect NIPC Leader

State Representatives Cal Skinner Jr. (R-Crystal Lake) and William Kempiners (R-Joliet) are jointly sponsoring a bill that shifts the responsibility of selecting commissioners for the Northeastern Illinois Planning Commission (NIPC) from the five outlying county boards to the people.

A bipartisan group of 17 other state representatives from all five of the outlying Chicago metropolitan counties are co-sponsoring the bill, Skinner said.

At present, each county board is represented by one of its members, appointed for a four year term.

The idea of electing NIPC's outlying county commissioners came, Skinner said, when he discovered a lack of unanimity

Membership Grows In Rotary Club

The Rotary Club of Antioch has added seven new members.

They are Charles J. Forster of Grass Lake, Lumber, Gene A. Secker of the First National Bank of Antioch, Stewart Olson, Mick McDermott, Richard J. Paddock of The Advertiser, Ralph Rieger and Wayne E. Parthun of the Allendale School in Lake Villa.

An Antioch High School student, Terry O'Brien, was a guest at last Thursday's meeting. The Antioch Rotarians have an Interact Club with the high school students and it is one of the largest and most active in the area.

The Rotarians recently participated in a district bowling tournament at Mt. Prospect. Dick Verkeyn was the star with games of 160, 181 and 192. Rev. Steve Williams had scores of 151, 137 and 140 and noted in his report on the tournament that "prayer didn't help."

THE ROTARY Club will have a joint meeting with the Chamber of Commerce next Monday, 12:15 p.m., at Lorenz's. Candidates for the office of village trustee have been invited to talk to the two groups.

The president of the Rotarians, Bill Brook, has been appointed by Mayor Robert Wilton to head the village's Bi-Centennial Celebration committee.

Brook said his committee feels the local celebration could be divided into three parts: Festival (parades, etc.), Heritage (concerning itself with historical aspects), and Horizons (something should be done in 1976 which can be left with the community permanently).

"I think that Rotary can be one of the leaders in this celebration," Brook said. The committee was scheduled to meet again last night to discuss possible projects.

among the five in opposition to RTA.

"In fact, at least one even voted to endorse the RTA referendum when NIPC considered a resolution on the subject," Skinner said.

Skinner said he thinks the subsequent overwhelming popular vote against RTA in DuPage, Kane, Lake, McHenry and Will counties is "sufficient reason to believe the NIPC commissioner was out of step with his electorate."

Joining Skinner and Kempiners as co-sponsors are Representatives Geo-Karis, Greisheimer, Pierce, Deuster and Reed from Lake County.

Yoga Program For Retired

Members of the Antioch chapter of the American Association for Retired Persons (AARP) are sponsoring a weekly "arm-chair yoga" program to promote health and vitality.

Classes are held on Thursdays from 9:30 to 11 a.m. at St. Peter's hall. Nominal fees are charged. Car pools are being formed for those who do not have rides, and more information can be obtained by calling Sister Paula at 395-0246.

Meet Apr. 2

A regular meeting of the United Methodist Women will be held at the Antioch Methodist Church on Wednesday, Apr. 2, at 12:30 p.m.

The program, "Global Concerns," will be presented by Mrs. Florence Ruck. All members are being urged to attend.

On March 14, 1757, British Adm. John E. Byng was shot for allegedly not doing his best to relieve Minorca from French attack.

Develop game, forget winning

By ED COLLINS
Copley News Service

If your ego cannot stand losing, tennis is not the game for you.

Inexperienced players frequently stunt their skill development because of an obsession to win. At the beginning and intermediate levels of play, this attitude proves disastrous to the student's eventual chance of becoming a good player. Because they want to be competitive immediately, they adopt a game plan that fits their needs. Their strategy is simply to intimidate their opponent. And it works.

Their sole objective is to attack the net — and not be subtle about it. The more obvious, the better. Some even slap their feet on the court and beat their chest. Others yell, "Here I come!" The tactic is to intimidate the opponent as he plays the ball.

It doesn't matter whether the player has a net game because the ball rarely comes back. Their opponents are so nervous they invariably make a mistake. The match winner is the player who consistently makes it to the net first.

Although these tactics are ill-conceived — and against a good player, worthless — they usually work. The problem is that the player doesn't give himself an opportunity to develop his groundstrokes.

After a few years of frantically running around the court, the frustrated player has little to show for his time spent. Although his volleys and overhead are much improved, his groundstrokes are still at the embryonic stage.

Everytime he plays an experienced player, this glaring weakness is exploited. He gets lobbed and loses because he has no baseline game.

Don't be so shortsighted. You must temporarily forget about winning. Stay back at the baseline and develop the THREE-STROKE GAME. This is the foundation from which you can build a strong game and eventually whip all those "egomaniacal stampeding weekend hackers."

Government Payroll Getting Out of Hand

When Kredit Anstadt, the central banking system of Austria, collapsed and touched off the worldwide depression of the early '30's, the blame was fixed on government attempts to subsidize almost every phase of Austrian society.

If accounts we read today are true, Austria was attempting to run the champion of all welfare states in the civilized world at that time. There were countless subsidies. Austria had public housing, public schooling, public health services, public transportation and many other facets of a government that wants to rule its people from the cradle to the grave.

ALL THIS seems to be forgotten in the economic difficulties engulfing the world today.

Should a problem arise in the United States in the years ahead, the chances are it will be triggered by government efforts to support the people and guarantee income security no matter what the cost in printing-press money.

The concentration of power in government bureaucrats is creating numerous conditions that might be called "built-in bombshells," conditions capable of wrecking the entire national economy of this country.

The first condition creeping up on us almost unnoticed is government employment - federal, state and local. The total payroll now exceeds 14 million, or one for every five persons employed in private industry. At the turn of the century the ratio was 26 to 1, and at the end of World War II it was 9 to 1.

THE EXPLOSION in government payrolls last year amounted to 18 percent of the nation's work force. This means that $1 of every $3 of income generated in the United States today goes to the tax collector.

The latest figures show the number of civilian workers on the government payrolls is increasing twice as fast as the U.S. population. Between 1963 and 1973 the number of federal white-collar civilian workers (outside of the Postal Service) went up 19 percent, but the cost of paying them went up 132 percent. During the same period the cost of living rose only 38 percent.

BARRY GOLDWATER

The disturbing factor is that many civilians on the public payroll, especially in Washington, are riveted into their jobs by civil service and upon retirement are "indexed" against the ravages of inflation. Indexing, of course, is official parlance for a system in which a retired worker's income is tied to the official cost-of-living index.

When the index of items regarded as essential moves upward, the wages of those who work under the index system automatically move upward to keep pace. Should the index go down, these wages presumably would go down accordingly.

However, the nation has been in an "index spiral." The reverse system has never been given a fair test.

CHILDREN

Gap still worries parents

By DR. WILLARD ABRAHAM
Copley News Service

So many letters have come in recently from parents of teen-agers. The "generation gap" apparently isn't over, and it probably never will be.

To touch the key points in these letters, here is a composite reply:

Swearing? Sure, it intrigues your youngster to horrify you, so ignoring it may be more effective than being obviously upset about it.

Drinking wine? Again, he (or she) may merely be trying to shock you. A little bit of it with a meal may not be so bad, and if you can manage to drink some of it too, that may lessen the enjoyment of taunting you.

You won't accomplish much by banning or taking away the materials in his (her) room that upset you. They can probably be seen at friends' houses anyway.

Again, the effort on your part to ignore may be best.

What you can do on the positive side is to listen, spend time with your youngster (not a great deal of it perhaps, but an occasional movie, ice cream sharing, or watching a TV show together), and talk through a compromise on hours and other points of conflict.

Ed and Carl put together a plastic cylinder that's going to help keep your rates down.

It's called a vacuum chamber weld tester. It's not too fancy, and it doesn't have any microcircuits or chrome trim, but it could save us more than $100,000 a year.

Ed Steeve, Commonwealth Edison engineer, designed it; Carl Knutson, Assistant Shop Superintendent, helped put it together at our Maywood Technical Center.

The vacuum chamber consists of a short, transparent plastic cylinder that's slightly larger in circumference than the pipe it's testing. We fasten it around the weld, where the leaks are likely to occur, then seal it airtight. The space between pipe and cylinder is then partially filled with a clear liquid (usually water) and a vacuum pump is attached to remove the air. If there are any leaks in the weld, the air from inside the pipe will create a column of telltale bubbles.

It's a simple process, but vitally important. When we put cables in underground pipes, we expect them to last for many years. A pin-hole leak would result in a cable failure, a loss of power, and a loss of valuable man-hours in repair work.

We have been testing welds by other methods, which were time-consuming, and cost as much as $14,000 for every mile of pipe.

But our new vacuum chamber device will do the same job for a fraction of that cost. The money we save will help keep your rates down. And the time we save will give our Commonwealth Edison engineers a chance to do a little more of that valuable experimentation.

Working for you.

Rope Twirlers To Perform On Globetrotters' Program

East meets West in a dynamic and exciting act featuring Kim and Carmel Gowan, appearing with the Harlem Globetrotters' world-famous basketball team at Antioch Community High School on Thursday, Apr. 3, at 7:30 p.m.

Pres Reckers, chairman of the event sponsored by the Antioch Chamber of Commerce and Industry, reports that Globetrotter tickets are now available through all Chamber of Commerce members, the Chamber office, 395-3381, the State Bank of Antioch, 395-2700, as well as Antioch Community High School and St. Peter's, Antioch Upper Grade, Emmons and Grass Lake Schools.

In a dazzling halftime variety show at the Globetrotter game, East is Kim Gowan, who was born in Viet Nam, and West is her mother by adoption, Carmel Gowan, who was born in Saskatchewan, Canada.

Carmel and Kim perform as one of the most unusual mother-daughter teams in the world. They are rope twirlers. In the tradition of the old west, Carmel and Kim twirl lariats and ropes of all sizes and lengths as part of a super crowd-pleasing attraction.

THEIR SKILL is seldom seen today and their dexterity with a rope is unbelievable. It is rare to see such an accomplished rope twirling act, and even more rare to see it performed by two such attractive young ladies.

Carmel was touring Viet Nam a few years ago and met Kim at an orphanage. The two were so taken by one another that Carmel worked for two years to overcome the inter-continental red tape to adopt Kim as her own daughter. This task was made even more difficult since Carmel is unmarried.

Kim, now 14 years old, has taken to the show business way of life as easily as spinning her ropes. Carmel has toured 65 countries appearing as a premier attraction at the Moulin Rouge in Paris, the Dorchester Hotel in London and Tivoli Gardens in Copenhagen. Kim has accompanied her mother to 50 of those countries.

Speedway Cars To Be Exhibited

The late-model stock car racing season will start at the Waukegan Speedway on Saturday night, Apr. 5. One week earlier the speedway's annual race car show will be held at the nearby Belvidere Mall in Waukegan.

A number of new cars for the 1975 season are slated for the special exhibit Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week. The enclosed shopping center is about two miles from the speedway at Belvidere Road (Rt. 120) and Lewis Ave.

Among the cars entered in this year's show are the 1975 Camaro of Don Marmor and the 1973 Camaro of George Dukas. Marmor's cars were voted "best appearing" of the '74 season at Waukegan and Dukas was the '72 track champion.

Lakers Win Tournament

Faith Lutheran's basketball team won another first place trophy last weekend, winning the annual Lake Lutheran Athletic Conference tournament in Zion.

The Lakers scored two pins to gain the finals, in which they beat Friedens of Kenosha 47-39. Mike Lischewski, who has scored most of the Lakers' points this season, had 37 in the championship game.

John Lundgren was third among tournament scorers with 51 points in three games. Lischewski had 107.

Secure Your Home Against Robbers When You Vacation

People planning to take vacations this spring should take extra precautions to prevent home burglaries, warns Pinkerton's, Inc., the private security firm.

John Hitt, vice president for security, suggests taking the following steps to secure your home and make it appear that someone is there.

- Encourage neighbors to use your driveway for overnight parking. This will make it appear that you are home.

- Use automatic timing or electric eye devices to operate several house lights at night.

- Leave curtains open, at least part way. Closed blinds make an effective screen for the burglar once he is inside.

- Close and lock all doors, including the garage, tool shed and other work shelters. Use pin tumbler, cylinder locks on outside entrances and safety latches on windows. The main entrance should be bolted as well as locked.

- Stop all deliveries.

- Don't leave notes tacked up conspicuously for mailmen or other services.

LAKE & SPAFFORD STREETS

"Serving the Lakes Region Since 1894"

Along the way with ANNIE MAE

Spring is here!you'd never believe it by the weather, though. Sure hope it shapes up somewhat when the kids are off school.

Hats off to John Olisar and all of the high school students who performed and worked behind the scenes to present the marvelous variety show "That's Entertainment" last weekend. Everyone who saw it came away talking about what a great production it was. John's already talking about bigger and better things for next year.

Barb Corbin is back from a two week tour of India. Had her first elephant ride. "They're such big monsters," she said. "Now I know what a sardine feels like when it looks up at a whale in the ocean." Barb said the people in India are "fantastic" when they find out you're from the United States. Once outside the poverty of Bombay, her group of representatives from seven U.S. travel agencies were treated to lush, green countryside, happy, healthy people and acres and acres of flowers. It reminded her of Hawaii as they were greeted with leis of flowers wherever they went.

THE ST. PETER'S Annual VIP dinner-dance was a huge success as usual. Guests of honor, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Zimmerman, also had a very important date Sunday when they were going to become godparents to Ricky and Hank Apostals ninth child.

The decorations carried out the "atmosphere of Antioch" with a major portion of the mural facing the new park in town drawn by Jane Craner and painted by ten seventh grade students at St. Peter's. Clouds and butterflies and a water-tower over the bar completed the scene. A super job by Hank Apostal, Miss Beckman and the kids.

The Scotch Lads were superb, making for a crowded dance floor all evening and, of course, Mary Wells did a fantastic job on the food. The roast beef was out of this world.

JEFF SANTINO STAGED another of his fabulous parties last Saturday evening. All kinds of "ohs and ahs" filled the room during the "Hello Dolly" number. Donna DeWitt and Maria Malecki, playing the parts of Dollys, sang and served desserts from specially-built runways between the tables. The room was magnificently decorated in red and white enhanced by the waitresses in their snappy new uniforms, white derbies and white gloves.

Slides of past Antioch Country Club parties were shown and many memberships were taken out immediately for the new season which begins April 1.

Members of the Antioch Mental Health Association toured the grounds and buildings of the Grove School in Lake Forest prior to the kick-off drive for their 10th Cotillion. The ladies are planning a gala evening on Saturday, May 3 at the Abbey in Fontana, Wis. Donations are $15 per person and tickets may be purchased at the State Bank, the First National Bank, The Antioch Thrift Shop or from any committee member. Be sure to mark your calendars now.

Proceeds from the Thrift Shop and the Cotillion help support the Grove School and other agencies for the mentally retarded.

Glad to see my friend Frank ReCupido is getting around and feeling better. Also, Tony Torchia who has perked up again, a little thinner perhaps, but still is spunky as ever.

A speedy recovery to Ellen Ryan who is in Lake Forest Hospital. Cards would be appreciated. Get wells also to Norma Lowe and Frank Oglesby. A very special get well REMEMBER MOMS ... this is the weekend of the big Easter Egg Hunt sponsored by the Northern Illinois Conservation Club. The hunt will begin at 11 a.m. at the Club's headquarters on Rt. 173 just two miles west of Rt. 59.

Birthday greetings to Kathryn Wells and George Rodelius on the 26th, to Gary Rush and Fannie Lemker on the 29th, to Ruth Calloway, Jim Glenn, Florence Yucus, Jerry Van Patten and Tom Pocrnich on the 30th and to Bob Wilton and Irene Rodelius on April 1.

Anniversary congrats to Lena and Bruce Dalgaard who celebrate on the 26th.

PM&L will be presenting their new production "John Brown's Body" beginning Saturday, Apr. 5 at 8:30 p.m. Be sure to call and make your reservations now.

This being Holy Week, why not attend the church of your choice for Maundy Thursday and Good Friday services as well as Easter Sunrise or regular services. I know all of the churches in the area are planning special services for Easter.

3 Sequoits Honored

Mike Perrone, Russ Albano and Bob Dubek have been honored by their Antioch High School teammates.

Perrone was elected "most valuable player" of the Sequoit basketball team that won 22 of its 28 games this season.

Albano was named team captain for the year and Dubek was voted "most improved player."

While they were winning another conference championship, plus the regional tournament, the Sequoits also piled up a lot of individual honors.

Albano and Perrone were honorable mention All-State. Perrone made the All-Area team and Albano gained special mention on that one.

The team's two leading scorers - Perrone and Albano - also made All-County, All-Conference and All-Tournament teams.

AS A TEAM, the Sequoits placed second in the Rockford Holiday Classic and established a new conference record of 27 straight victories, a streak that started back in 1973.

Complete statistics on the Sequoits' 1974-75 season will appear in next week's Antioch News.

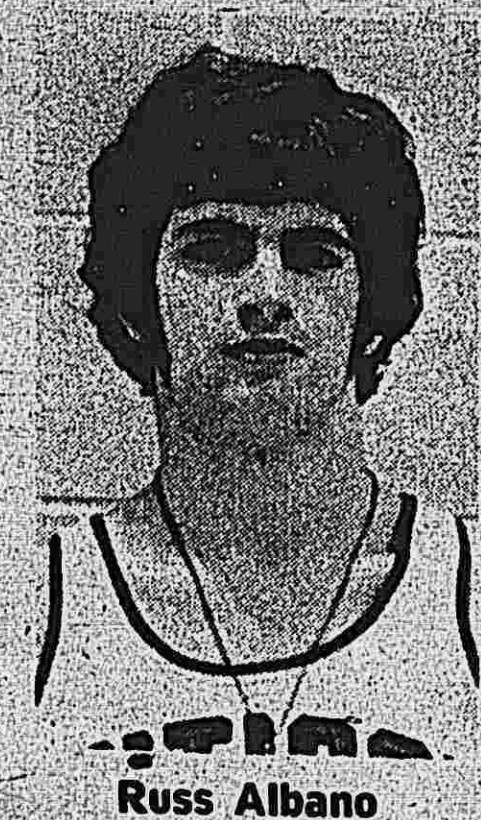

The Secret Behind Johnny Miller's Amazing Golf

With every pro golfer drooling over Johnny Miller's brilliant sub-par performances, a putting teacher in Buffalo, N. Y. offers a reason behind the amazing Mr. Miller's winning ways.

"Johnny Miller is winning because his underlying strength is a highly developed confidence that stems from his deadly accuracy around, but primarily on the greens," says Howard Sasse. "And the real secret to this confidence is Miller's faithful dependence on his caddy's ability to help him read the greens."

"It is not difficult," continues Sasse, "for any golfer to understand or appreciate the fact that his caddy is in a much better position to read a green than a golfer standing over a ball; plus he may be far more effective at it. Green reading is a judgment ability quite often unrelated to golfing expertise."

Howard Sasse also believes almost any dedicated golfer could give Miller strokes, and still take him. How? By using a talented caddy to not only read the green, but also help him aim the putter on the proper line. "That," he says,

Russ Albano

Mike Perrone

Bob Dubek

"would be the final nail in any golfer's lucky horseshoe. Even Miller could improve his scoring using this technique, but he must change his style of putter. The one he is using cannot be properly aimed from the rear." Sasse also claims, "Line and aim could be solely or partially entrusted to a caddy, leaving the golfer with one problem - distance."

The Battle of Storkyo, which led to Russian domination of Finland, was fought March 13, 1714.

Youth Baseball Sign-Ups Set

Registration will be held at the Scout House for Minor League, Little League and Babe Ruth baseball on Friday Apr. 4, from 6:30 to 9 p.m., and Saturday, Apr. 5 and 12 from 10 a.m. till 3 p.m.

This year an evening of registration is scheduled because many parents indicated they were not able to sign up their children on Saturdays, due to work, etc.

Those signing up for Minor League must reach the age of 8 before Aug. 1. Those who will attain the age of 9 before Aug. 1, and who will not be 13 before Aug. 1, are eligible for Little League baseball.

Those who are 13 before Aug. 1, and who will not reach the age of 16 before Aug. 1, shall be eligible to compete in Babe Ruth baseball.

Boys eligible to compete in Antioch's baseball program must live within the boundaries of the following schools: Antioch, Channel Lake, Oakland, Emmons, Grass Lake, St. Peter's, Faith Lutheran and Antioch High School.

Those who were in the program last year from outside these boundaries are still eligible to compete. Anyone giving false addresses and telephone numbers will be subject to removal from the program, league officials said.

Registration fees are $6 for one youngster, $11 for two and $15 for three or more in a family for Minor and Little League, and $8 for one and $15 for two or more in a family for Babe Ruth baseball.

Tryout dates have been set for Saturday and Sunday, Apr. 19 and 20. The schedule is:

Apr. 19 - 9 a.m. till 12 for 9 year olds.

Apr. 19 - 1 p.m. till 4 p.m. for 10 year olds.

Apr. 20 - 1 p.m. till 4 p.m. for 11 and 12 year olds.

All tryouts will be held at the Little League field.

Babe Ruth tryouts will be held at 2 p.m. on Sunday, May 4, at the Antioch High School field. Anyone interested in helping at the tryouts can contact Bernie Gutowski, league president, at 395-0864.

"As president of the league, I feel that three sign-up dates is plenty of time for parents to register their children," Gutowski said.

"If anyone signs up after Apr. 12 he will be placed on a waiting list and will be allowed into the program only as openings occur," he added.

Globetrotters' 'Court Jester' Is Geese Ausbie

Geese Ausbie is basketball's "Court Jester" with the Harlem Globetrotters.

The famous sports team is coming to Antioch on Thursday, Apr. 3, 1975, 7:30 p.m., at Antioch Community High School, for one game sponsored by the Antioch Chamber of Commerce and Industry.

Pres Reckers, chairman of the event, reports that Globetrotter tickets are available through all Chamber of Commerce members, the Chamber office (395-3381), the State Bank of Antioch (395-2700), as well as Antioch Community High School and St. Peter's, Antioch Upper Grade, Emmons and Grass Lake school.

Geese is a classic study of an "overnight" success. He hails from Crescent, Okla., where he was a schoolboy sports sensation. He set baseball and basketball records that still stand while attracting professional scouts.

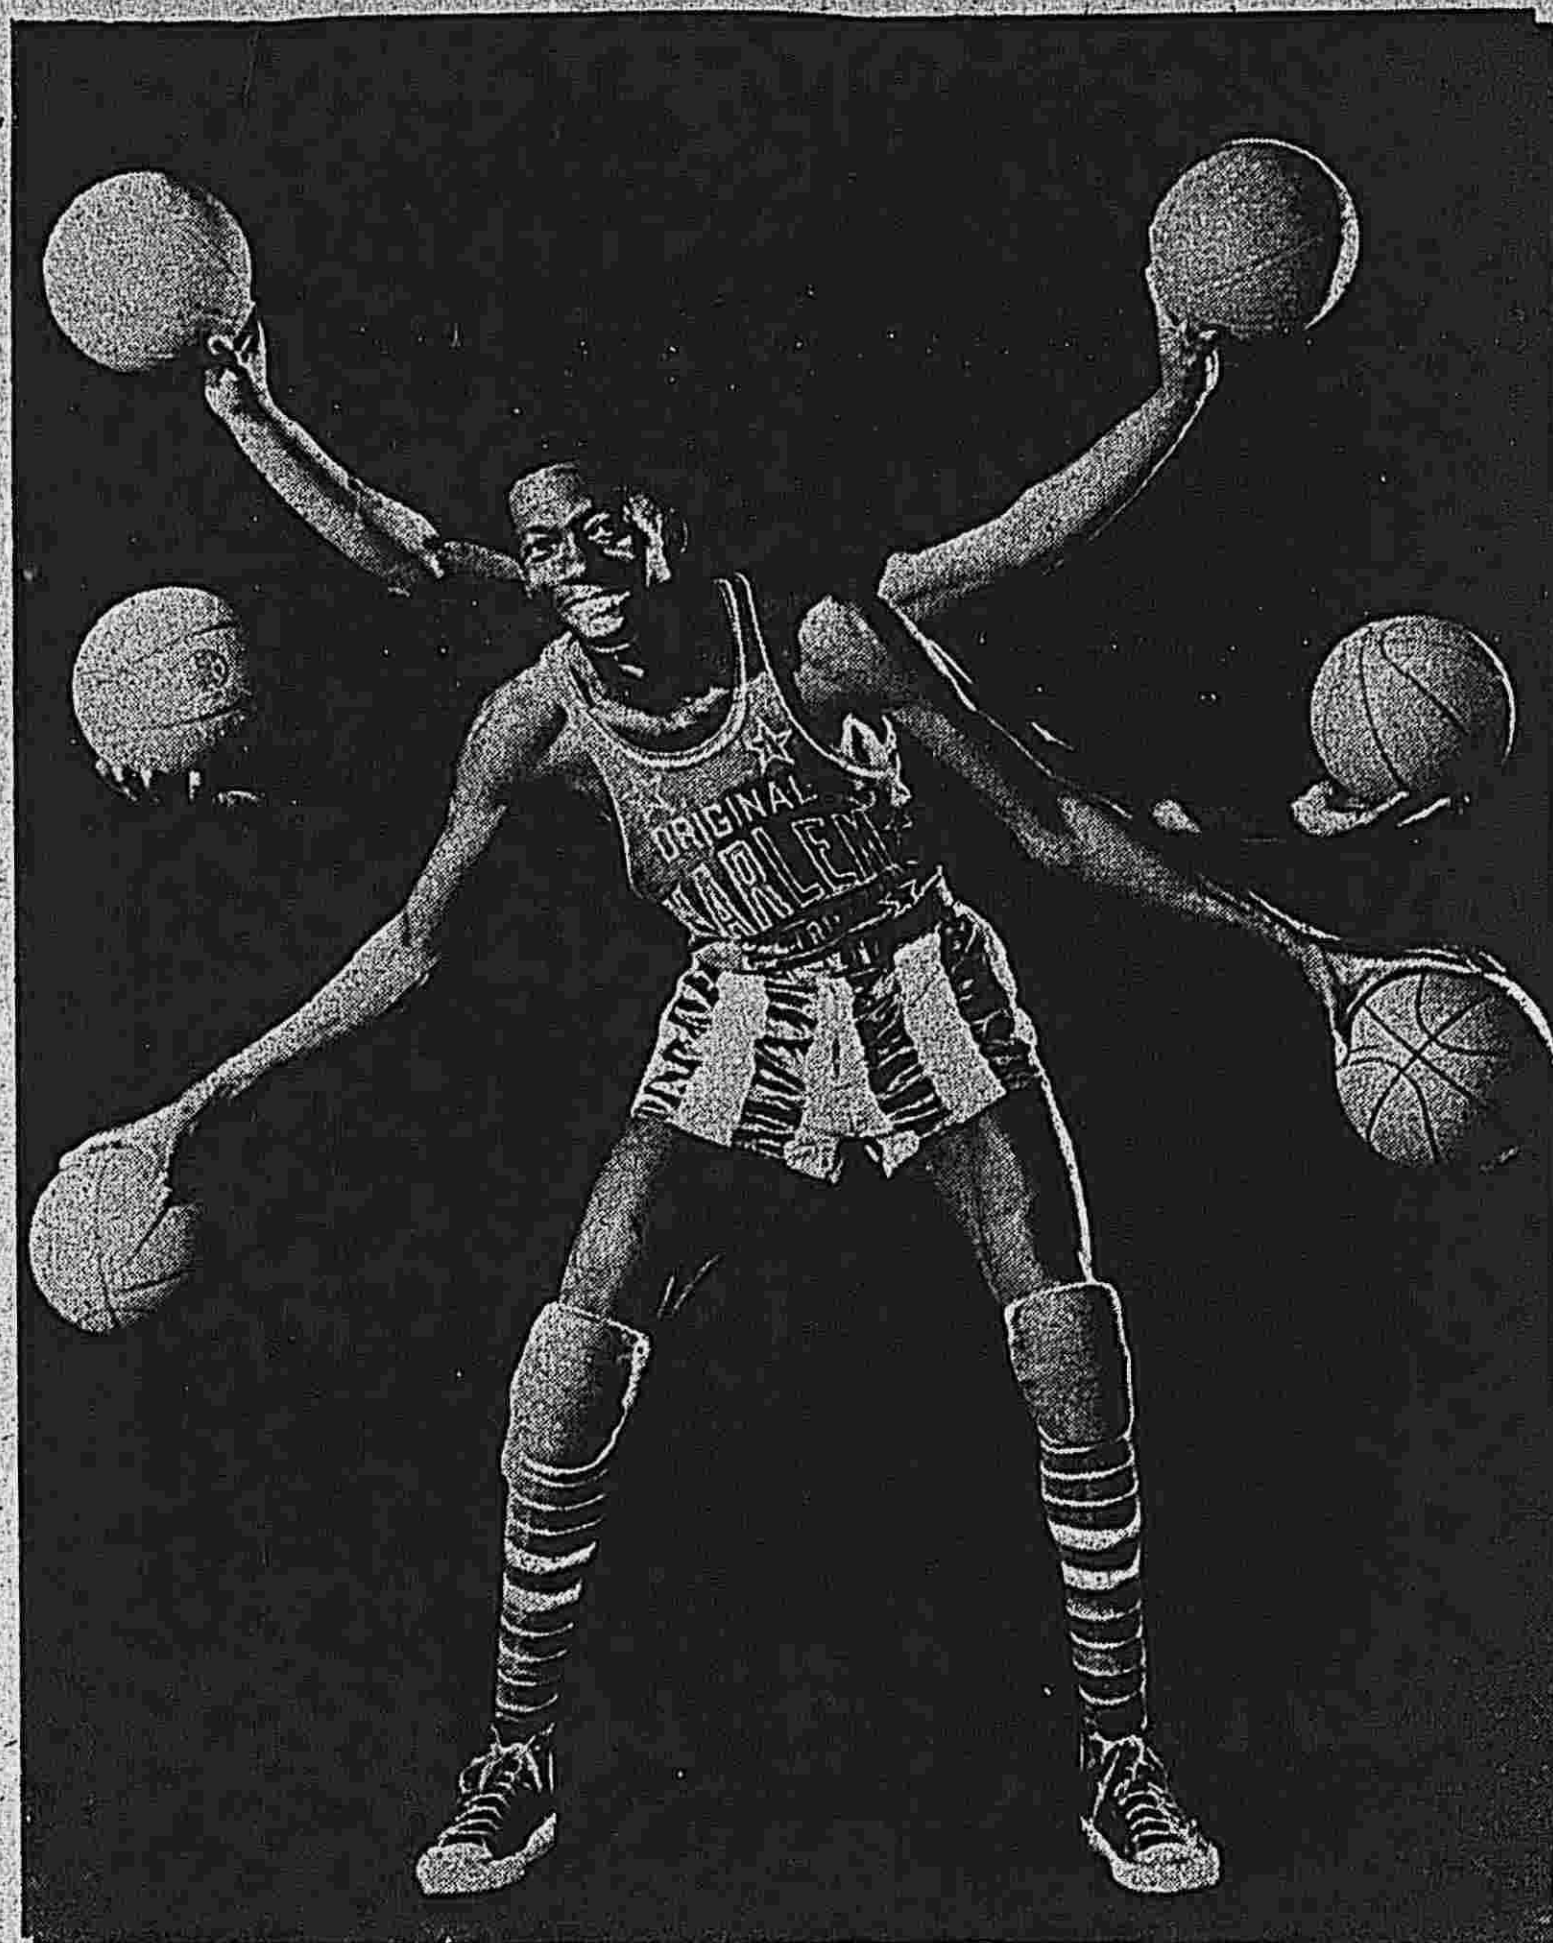

TURNING HIS back on a professional baseball career, Geese attended Philander

Smith College in Little Rock, Ark. At Philander Smith, Ausbie continued his assault on the record books, finishing his collegiate basketball career as the third leading scorer in the nation.

Again the professional ranks beckoned and Geese donned the vestment of a Harlem Globetrotter. That was nine years ago. Today as top banana with the Trotters, a star of the most popular television series, "The Harlem Globetrotters Popcorn Machine," and a favorite of basketball fans everywhere, Geese is looked upon as an "overnight" success.

"WHERE DID that guy come from?" is an often-asked question. It's as if he appeared on the scene yesterday, yet he has been a standout athlete and entertainer for the past 17 years.

Ausbie enjoys success and doesn't mind the people who aren't aware of his outstanding background. His attitude is, "Just as long as they don't forget me, now they know me."

Grade School Teams To Play Prelim Games

While the world-famous Harlem Globetrotters are heading toward Antioch for their basketball game at the high school on Thursday, Apr. 3, Antioch's local eighth grade school basketball stars, cheerleaders and coaches are preparing for the student games that will begin the evening's entertainment at 6 p.m.

Participating teams and cheerleaders include St. Peter's school (sponsored by the Antioch Bowling Lanes), Antioch Upper Grade school (sponsored by the State Bank of Antioch), Emmons school (sponsored by John Teresi Chevy-Olds, Inc.) and Grass Lake school (sponsored by Grass Lake Lumber Company).

The first of two pre-Globetrotter games will feature St. Peter's and Antioch Upper Grade school. The second game will highlight Emmons and Grass Lake.

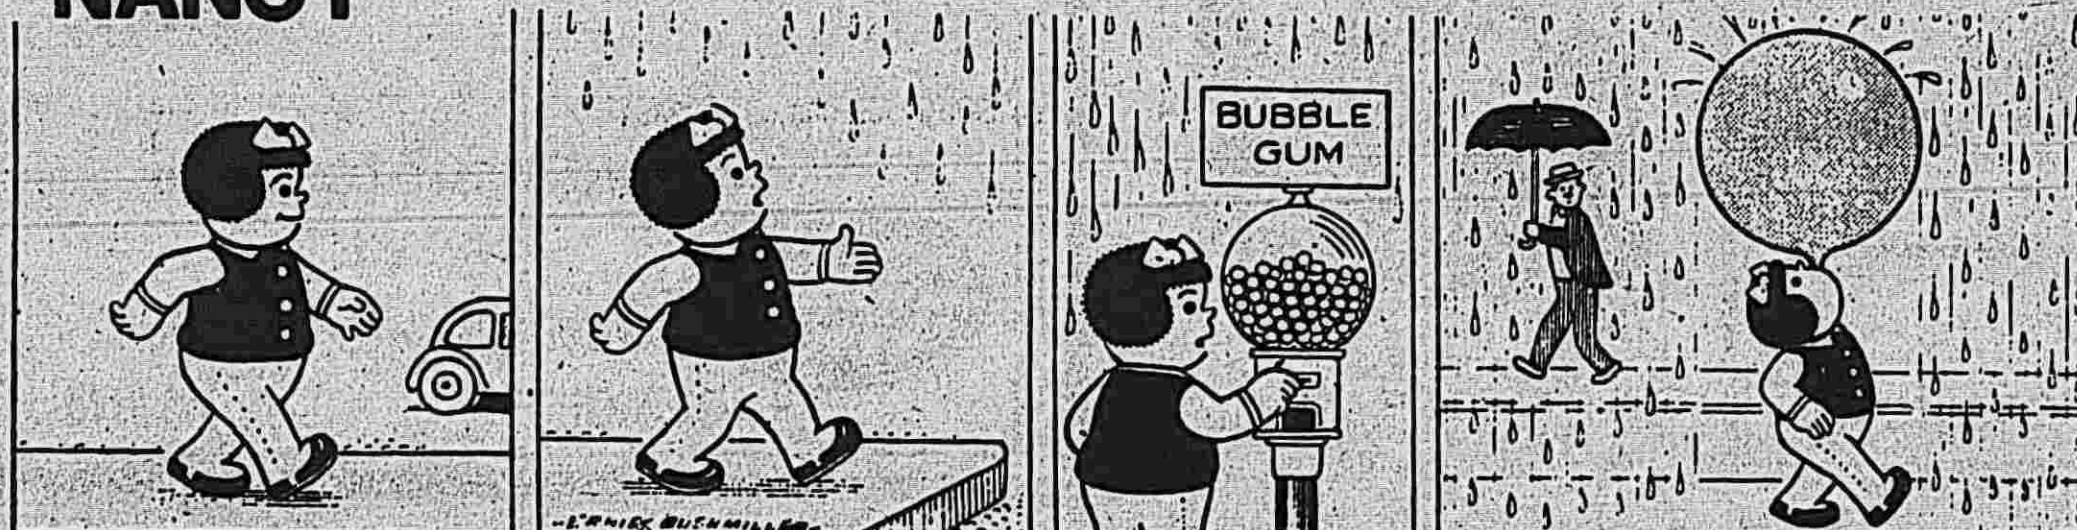

The teams losing at the end of each half will play one consolation half. The two teams leading at each half will play for the championship, which is sure to provide excitement and a rousing warmup to the Trotters' game scheduled to begin at 7:30 p.m.

The experiences of life over the years reveal that most of the fears and worries which beset everyone from time to time are needless. But even if we are aware of that, most of us cannot refrain from worrying every day about a great many troubles that "never happened" in our daily round, in our work and in our business activities. . . A certain amount of worry is a natural part of our daily lives. It pushes us to get things done, and makes us aware of what would happen if something were not done.
